

AN INTERNATIONAL UMBRELLA ORGANIZATION: WOMEN in FORESTRY INTERNATIONAL

We are aware that forests are essential to sustain life on Earth, and it's time to say that women are crucial for the sustainability of forests.

To address the climate crisis and shift to real sustainable development, we must engage all human resources, knowledge and perspectives available, involving all people.

We are honoured to inform you about Women in Forestry International (WOFO), an umbrella organization established to promote the interests of women in the forest and wood sector internationally.

Our mission is to be a leading international organization that brings together women in forestry. We are making them stronger, more visible, and heard.
